Agent-based and Individual-based Modeling: A Practical

Introduction. Individual decision-making about consumption has been the subject of many theories and approaches. In this paper, we are interested to propose some steps to include consumer decision making and behaviour in formal models, trying to do this in a more realistic way than the neoclassical theory.

STRUCTURAL ECONOMETRIC MODELING: RATIONALES AND EXAMPLES

A macroeconomic model is an analytical tool designed to describe the operation of the economy of a country or a region. These models are usually designed to examine the dynamics of aggregate quantities such as the total amount of goods and services produced, total income earned, the level of employment of productive resources, and the level of prices. ...

A computational model is a mathematical model in computational science that requires extensive computational resources to study the behavior of a complex system by computer simulation.. The system under study is often a complex nonlinear system for which simple, intuitive analytical solutions are not readily available. Rather than deriving a mathematical analytical solution to the problem ...
