In statistics, a mixed-design analysis of variance model (also known as a split-plot ANOVA) is used to test for differences between two or more independent groups whilst subjecting participants to repeated measures. Thus, in a mixed-design ANOVA model, one factor (a fixed effects factor) is a between-subjects variable and the other (a random effects factor) is a within-subjects variable.

As a supplement to the reference book, the Weibull++ examples collection provides quick access to a variety of step-by-step examples that demonstrate how you can put the capabilities of Weibull++ to work for you. Some of these examples also appear in the reference book. Others have been published in other locations, such as www.ReliaSoft.com.
