Don't Quit no matter what! May 29, 2010 @ 11pm , When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, When the road you're trudging seems all uphill, When funds are low and the debts are high, And you want to smile but you have to sigh, When care is pressing you down a bit, Rest if you must, but don't you quit.

CHAPTER 1 Donâ€™t Try Charles Bukowski was an alcoholic, a womanizer, a chronic gambler, a lout, a cheapskate, a deadbeat, and on his worst days, a poet. Heâ€™s probably the last person on earth you would ever look to for life advice or expect to see in any sort of self-help book.

A Counterintuitive Approach to Livin a Good Life

Paraphrasing and Summarizing: The Good, The Bad, The Incoherent: Students often confuse summarizing and paraphrasing literature. When a student summarizes a text, the student condenses many lines of material into a single sentence or so while keeping the content clear. A bad summary merely describes what the content is but leaves out context.

Giving a poetry reading to me is not very different from performing music - it should be exciting, intimate executed well I'd disagree with point 11 as well. In my mind there certainly is a wrong way to be a poet - poems that are so bad I'd spend an hour with my friends making fun of them. The world is chock full of bad poets and bad poetry.

~ Book of Kells: What TO DO When Giving a Poetry Reading--

How to Read a Poem - Reading poetry well is part attitude and part technique. Curiosity is a useful attitude, especially when it's free of preconceived ideas about what poetry is or should be. Effective technique directs your curiosity into asking questions, drawing you into a conversation with the poem.

The Giving Tree

"In the end, though, maybe we must all give up trying to pay back the people in this world who sustain our lives. In the end, maybe it's wiser to surrender before the miraculous scope of human generosity and to just keep saying thank you, forever and sincerely, for as long as we have voices."
